For She Can Keep Secret NEARING ITS FINISH, LAWYERS SUM UP

Says Reports Are Part of Propaganda to Secularize the Institutions.

John M. Bowers summed up in the defense of the State Board of Charities to-day before Commissioner Charles H. Strong in the assembly room of the Bar Association. There is good reason to believe, he said, that the attack upon the State Board is part of a propaganda to secularize the charities of this State.

"In the reports," he said, "n language is too severe to describe the defects in the play of the children; no language too vicious to describe the iousekeeping defects; yet scarcely one word is to be found commendatory of the religious life in any institution. Charity in its highest form is the foundation of all the Protestant and Catholic Institutions. Charity cannot be separated from the Christian re-

William H. Hotchkiss, summing up for the presecution, declared that the State Board of Charities had neglected its duty; that it should have dis-covered the wrongs found by the city investigators and should have corrected them. The charge that Dr. R. R. Leeder, in charge of the City Orphan Asylum at Hastings, was an anti-Catholic bigot, Mr. Hotchkiss declared, was silly. That the State Board was dissatisfied with the conduct of the Secretary Robert W. Hole duct of its Secretary, Robert W. Hebberd. Mr. Hotchkiss said, was shown by the fact that he was allowed to resign while this investigation was
